

When faced with the choice of getting a good tan this summer or volunteering a few hours at the Michigan Voice, we think the choice is clear.

A good tan.

Let's face it. Nothing works like a good tan. You meet more people, go more places with a deep, dark tan. Not that it's easy, working all summer on that tan. Laying on the beach or by the pool, hour after hour, in sometimes excruciating, unbearable heat, is no small task. There are dogs and mosquitoes to contend with, frisbees that hit you in the face, people with perverse minds who drink Bud, and the smell of chlorine that's hard to get out of your hair. Then there's sun stroke, heat stroke, third-degree sunburns and skin cancer. But it all seems well worth the effort when that "special person" asks you to a Wayne Newton concert.

There's no way that volunteering at the Michigan Voice can match the excitement that comes with a good tan. But we can try. We have to try because the paper can't run without the help of volunteers. The jobs that need to be done at the Voice don't take much time (a couple of hours every other week), but they are vital to the newspaper's operation. Though we can't guarantee a good tan with the work you'll do here, we are, once again, this summer, offering some of those nice things that go along with a good tan. Consider these jobs:

DISCO DISTRIBUTION—Two swinging hours on the 4th Thursday of the month distributing the Voice to the newsstands and stores in your neighborhood. Bundles of the paper come wrapped in 100% polyester cord and all distributors receive complimentary gold chains with the inscription "Stan."

LAYOUT AT VOICE BEACH—OK, so the grass grew up and ruined our beach, but we do have one of the nicest all-cement sidewalks in beautiful downtown Burton. Besides, the kind of layout we need help with is the laying out and pasting up of the pages of the Voice at our Flint office. If you have a good eye and a steady hand (we'll provide the training), we could use your help on the 4th Monday and Tuesday of the month.

PROOFREADING WITH PINA COLADAS—A job for only the best spellers among you (rigid parochial education preferred), you sit in luxury at our desks, blue pen in one hand, pina colada in the other. "Sip and Spell," we call it, four hours a month at your convenience.

Well, that's about it. Fun and excitement at the Michigan Voice this summer! There's lots of other odd jobs like publicity work, fundraising and selling subscriptions. It'll only take a few hours a month and we really need your help. You won't meet as many interesting and thought-provoking people as you would at the beach, but at least you won't look like a prune when you hit 40.

Why not subscribe to the Voice this summer? It costs only $10 for all four seasons and we'll throw in a free visit from Chemlawn to keep that yard (and your future offspring) looking spiffy all summer long. Just use the handy blank below.
